TCS is... Addressing the Mess!

"For as by the one man's disobedience the many were made sinners, so by the one man's obedience the many will be made righteous."

Romans 5:19

Last month, we took a look at a very regrettable time in our faith history - the fall into sin. I loved how the grade 2 and 7s approached this in their theme chapel last month. They showed that we need to recognize our sin - acknowledge that it is there and that we are sinful people - but we no longer need to live in the shame that is associated with that choice and the choices that have come after. The reason for this? The redemptive work on the cross. This month, at Trinity we will spend time reflecting on Jesus' sacrifice on that Good Friday, the importance of Him rising from the dead on that Easter Sunday, and His willingness to make the ultimate sacrifice for us. What a fantastic example of unconditional love - the best example! As we go through the rest of the year, students will be encouraged to answer the following question as a response to the work on the cross: 'How now shall I live?' and we are excited to see them follow in Jesus' example to show love to those they meet.

SPOTLIGHT: The Gutenberg Printing Press

This week as we celebrate the 500th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation, we were excited to have Harvey Boldt - a former TCS parent - visit us on Monday with his operational replica of the Gutenberg Printing Press. The printing press was fundamental to the spread of the Protestant faith and pivotal in the appeal of the Protestant churches to publish the Bible in the vernacular - the language of the people. Thank-you Harvey for sharing this little piece of our Christian history with us!
