

Becoming a Game Changer!

Train up a child in the way he should go; even when he is old he will not depart from it. Proverbs 22:6

March Focus: INTEGRITY

An excerpt from The Power of Integrity by Greg Laurie

What is integrity? It is having character—not being a character. (A lot of us would qualify there.) One definition suggests that integrity is what you are in the dark. In other words, who are you when you're all alone and no one is watching?

I heard the story of a pastor who boarded a bus one Monday morning. He paid his fare and took his seat, but then he realized that the bus driver had given him a lot of extra change. At the next stop the pastor went up to the bus driver and said, "Excuse me, sir, but you gave me too much change. I wanted to give it back to you."

The bus driver said, "Pastor, I didn't make a mistake. I was at your church yesterday, and I heard you preach on honesty. I wanted to see if you would live it."

Compromisers reach no one. There is power in conviction. There is power in integrity, in godliness, and in standing up for what we believe.

Many times we don't realize that people are watching us. They are paying attention to what we do. They may not tell us they are watching us, but they want to see if we are the real deal, if we are men and women of integrity.
